Shortening Sources

Lard is made from hog-fat; its origin is the pig-sty. It makes food greasy, indigestible and dangerous.

Cottolene comes from the cotton fields of the Sunny South. Its basis is the purest refined cotton-seed oil. It is pure, healthful, and makes digestible, nourishing food. It is Nature's gift from the Sunny South, and is the best frying and shortening medium possible to manufacture.

Once get in the habit of using Cottolene, and you will never let lard enter your kitchen again.

A BUSY SEASON

The Southern Railway is making, this year, unusual preparations to handle the tourists who will spend a large part of the summer in the mountains.

According to a high official of the road, who was in Henderson ville last week, there will be more people here this summer than ever before.

Very closely love and death dwell together-high up in the world of nature and low down! The following well authenticated story comes from Northamptonshire: A sparrow hawk was killed when feeding her young. Four days later when the nest was examined it was found that the little male bird, working alone for the family, had brought home forty-eight birdsviz, six larks, nine swallows, one builfinch, seven robins, six sparrows, six hedge sparrows, nine blue tits, three chaffinches and one wren. What a spirit of dutifulness along with ferocity is here exhibited on the part of the small widower hawk, who evidently thought that the best way of respecting the memory of his departed consort was to feed her children well! And in doing this how absolutely oblivious nature had rendered him of the feelings of the poor larks, swallows, bullfinches and robins, whose offspring-or the parents themselveshis relentless parental affection thus annexed! The direst cruelty animated by the tenderest love! The most savage egotism prompted by an entire unselfishness! Such are some of the problems which nature furnishes, but will not solve.-London Telegraph.

The First Test of Baby's Mind. Just as the germ of the flower is contained in the tiniest seed and will reveal itself with an absolute certainty as will rootlets and leaves when proper conditions of heat, moisture and light are accorded, so the germ of the mind of a child is present in his little body and will develop and unfoid itself with the growth of the latter.

The only way to stop the growth of a child's mind is to stop his body from growing. Appetite is the mother of the mind, and muscle is its father. At its lowest estimate the body with its brain is the tool of the mind, and good work cannot be done without

The first test of muscular vigor, the hand grasp, is an indication of the mental possibilities as well. Not one child out of a hundred who at ten days of age grasps firmly and clings to a finger or pencil rubbed against his pink little palm will ever fall below the average intelligence of his race .-Woods Hutchinson, M. D., in Woman's Home Companion.

The Home of Storms. The waters of Cape Horn have never been unvisited by storms for more than a week or two at a stretch within the memory of man. Standing on the outposts of the world. Cape Horn is the meeting place of ocean currents of very different temperature, from the icy cold waters of the Antarctic drift to the warmth of the Brazilian and Peruvian return currents.

The prevailing winds are from the northwest and west, and these, coming from the warm regions of the Pacific, condense into fogs, which the sallors call "Cape Horn blankets" and which are the forerunners of storms. The extremely low level to which the glaciers of Tierra del Fuego descend, the perpetual congelation of the subsoll, the meeting of conflicting winds at very different temperatures, are all direct or indirect causes combining to region of the world.

Not a Soloist.

The late Theodore Thomas was rehearsing the Chicago Orchestra on the stage of the Auditorium theater. He was disturbed by the whistling of Albert Burridge, the well known scene painter, who was at work in the loft above the stage. A few minutes later Mr. Thomas' librarian appeared on the "bridge" where Mr. Burridge, merrily whistling, was at work.

"Mr. Thomas' compliments," said the librarian, "and he requests me to state that if Mr. Burridge wishes to whistle he will be glad to discontinue his re-

To which Mr. Burridge replied suavely, "Mr. Burridge's compliments to Mr. Thomas, and please inform Mr. Thomas that if Mr. Burridge cannot whistle with the orchestra he won't whistle at all."-Success Magazine.
